What is HP Convergences?

As a strategic advisory-cum-sustainability consulting firm, we, at HP Convergences (HPC), help you discover the right business opportunities and public sector projects in India.

Our expertise extends to the following sectors:

// Businesses made sustainable with the right solutions & strategies. //

Our Pursuit. Our purpose.

Our services are geared to help our clientele build and provide tangible value by dealing with one of the world's most challenging issues: establishing truly sustainable economies and communities.

This is realized by integrating science, research and emerging sustainable technologies with profit-generating strategies and solutions.

Combined with the right partners, clean technology associates, academicians, and notable government allies present in the HPC ecosystem, our clients attain the confidence to acquire ambitious public sector projects and, with our help, eventually succeed in executing them from start to finish.

Our purpose is to create a world where sustainability is binding for the world we live in, not optional.

All our work is focused on propelling India's sustainable development goals for a better tomorrow.

// In life or business, building long-lasting relationships is key to unlocking //

The HPC 3-Fold Approach

// Minus sustainability, the future holds no economic security, social stability or community happiness. //

A Note From The Founder

The dangers of environmental degradation are clear as crystal, impacting businesses and communities across the globe.

Slow progress is unacceptable.

Steady improvements aren't enough.

It's time for us, the business leaders and changemakers, the government and the people, to unite and take real action. Actions that allow organizations and political leaders to take prompt steps NOW; targeted at building a more sustainable, equitable future for all...It's now that we create innovative solutions and strategies that convert quickly, bearing positive, tangible results for all, from the bottom of the hierarchy to the top.

It is here that HPC brings the full force of our expertise and resources, obtained after years of working assiduously in the public sector realm, clean energy, water, agriculture, infrastructure and corporate space, so you, our client, can push the change into motion.

As ardent believers of sustainability and eternal optimists, we at HPC are hoping that people and businesses like yourself can come together to work and help in reversing the damages caused to the environment.

So our children and future generations can enjoy the abundance of the planet in all its glory.
